

We recently purchased an older home in the Charbonneau District of Wilsonville that needed a lot of updating. We saw an ad for Todd Albert Homes that indicated full remodeling service including demolition, reconstruction and carpentry, flooring and carpet installation, plumbing and electrical updating, and painting; all the things we knew would be needed to bring the old house back to life.

We met with the company owner, Todd Richendollar, and were immediately impressed with his knowledge, his vision and his professionalism. The remodel is complete now and we couldn't be more pleased.

Todd has complete control of his subcontractors and material suppliers, always insisting that they perform in a timely manner and that they provide quality service. Every facet of the completed job is top-notch and we have been particularly pleased with the quality of the painting and performance of his painting crew.

Todd is young, energetic and, we believe, the type of experienced and honest craftsman that doesn't come around very often. Thanks, Todd.
